Business Portion of Farmington Destroyed by Fire

Earthquake in South Carolina

CHARLESTON, October 22 —There was a sharp earthquake shock here at 5 28 this morning Its duration was about 12 seconds Houses were shaken and windows rattled but no damage was done The shake was sharp also at Summerville and was followed by several "baby" quakes as they are called here Telegraphic advices state that the shock was felt at Savannah, Augusta, Columbia Orangeburg and other points in this state While the recurrence of quakes is trying to women and children it causes no interruption here in business or the work of repairing damages which is progressing vigorously

COLUMBIA, S. C, October 22 —There was a heavy earthquake shock here at 5 25 lasting 30 seconds It was preceded by loud and ominous rumbling which lasted until the quake passed off Nearly everyone was awakened by the shock, which swayed buildings and rattled things freely It was the heaviest shock felt since the second one of August 31

ATLANTA, Ga., October 22 A distinct earthquake shock was felt here this morning about 4 o'clock

LYNCHBURG, Va., October 22 Three large cracks in the earth have just been discovered on the top of Flat Top mountain, adjacent to the Peaks of Otter, one of the highest mountains in Bedford county, evidently caused by an earthquake One of these crossed the mountain wagon road and large trees and rocks have been thrown across it so as to make it impassable. The cracks extend a long distance and run north and south

CHARLESTON, October 22 —Another severe earthquake shock was experienced here this morning at 2 47 o'clock lasting about 15 seconds and the vibration was north and south

SAVANNAH, Ga, October 22 —Savannah was visited by two decided earthquake shocks today, the first at 4 55 a m, local time This was notable for the duration and tremors, which continued 10 or 20 seconds A good deal of apprehension but no general alarm was caused by it. Many people, hotel guests specially, got up and did not go back to bed At 2 20 p m another vibration accompanied by a rumbling noise was felt It was equally severe as the first, but of much less duration Only slight tremor shocks were almost as frequent as any that have been experienced here, excepting the great shock of August 31. They were felt everywhere in this section of the state but no damage is reported

WASHINGTON October 22 A slight earthquake shock was felt here at 2 50 this afternoon The tremor lasted but an instant, but was sufficiently strong to "pi" type on compositors stones in the fourth story of the Star office The stock was so distinct on the fifth floor of state, war and navy building that some of the clerks became alarmed and rushed into the corridor.

A Fire Calamity

FARMINGTON, Me, October 23 A great fire has raged here since 8 o'clock this evening At this hour (1 50 a m) fire is sweeping up Main street and will probably consume everything on the west side of the street—Masonic hall, Odd Fellows' hall, the Chronicle office, Knowlton & McCleary's job printing house, the postoffice, Hotel Marble, Lapham hotel and some fifteen stores are now ruins. The burned district thus far is from Hotel Marble down Pleasant street Everything is swept clear, including the jail, also along Broadway to Main street, thence Main street to Parbox Brothers' store on west side of the street, also down the entire length of Main street to Depot street on west side. The Baptist church is also ruins, the Methodist and Congregationalist arches burning. It is utterly impossible to estimate the loss A steam fire engine has just arrived from Lewiston The train from Lewiston was made in one hour and fifteen minutes A company from Phillips is also here but its labors are almost fruitless on account of the gale which prevails The People's Trust company is also burned out The fire caught in F Green's stables on Pleasant street at 7 30 o'clock No accidents are reported but everybody is exhausted

It was announced that Mrs Ellen Wardlaw, who was laundress of the Second Colorado, had written a very entertaining history of the regiment, and those who desire copies can address Col Boyd for particulars The meeting then adjourned to witness the exhibition of the fire department and be driven around the city To night the veterans together with the national guards will be tendered a grand hall and banquet at the chamber of commerce by members of the board of trade.

Manilus Captured

WASHINGTON, October 22 The following telegram from General Miles, dated Fort Apache Arizona, October 9, has been transmitted by General Howard to the war department

A detachment under Captain Cooper, Fifth cavalry, has just arrived at the post, having captured Mangus of 37 (whole party, consisting of Mangus, two men, three squaws and five children also twenty-three mules and five ponies, all of which were brought in

[signed] VISTE Captain commanding

These Indians have been pursued by Lieutenant Johnson and other through Chihuahua, Mexico, and New Mexico since 1879

[signed] MILES, Commanding

A later dispatch dated San Francisco October 21 from Assistant Adjutant General McKenny says The following telegram is just received from General Miles Mangus who was captured by Captain Cooper states that part of his band was captured by Mexicans and never heard from afterwards This would seem to confirm the reports that gave rise to the report that Mangus himself had been killed. Captain Viele, commanding Fort Apache, states that he believes we have all that are left of Mangus' party

It is learned at the war department that the Indians above referred to were formerly a part of Geronimo's band but separated from that warrior's command last April when he offered to surrender to General Crook Nothing definite was known of Mangus' movements after the separation, but it was reported that he had escaped into Mexico and had been killed by Mexicans.

European Complications

English Liberals

LONDON, October 22 The Leith Liberal club was opened yesterday Gladstone sent an apology for his absence and hearty good wishes for the success of the club, adding "Your club was formed during an epoch of dangerous schism which every good Liberal must desire to heal It is the object of the tories to keep dissension alive by postponing the question upon which it arose." He rejoiced to see Lord Monck, dissenting liberal, assisting in rapprochement. I hope he will continue his patriotic labors

Earl Aberdeen delivered an earnest address in the course of which he asked his countrymen to consider whether the time has not come to show that our policy toward often saddened Ireland is one of peace, appealing to the best side of human nature. "Away," he said, "with the notion that the policy is base surrender to violence. No, it is the policy, no matter which party carries it, which is in sympathy with the best interests of liberty.

Lord Roseberry, in an apology for his absence, wrote "For the present we are in the back water of the torrent of passion, which has raged the greater part of the year. We have no policy to oppose The government's dealing with foreign affairs will be guided by facts, of which we were unaware, but if they use British influence in the support of liberty and order in the Balkans, firmly maintain the neutrality of the New Hebrides, and while supporting the rights of the North American colonies aim at an amicable settlement of the fishery dispute, they will receive the support of all their countrymen Their Irish policy is still undeveloped Liberals, therefore, must endeavor to heal the schism in their ranks I fear the leaders will be able to do little in this direction, but I have unlimited faith in the rank and file If during the winter they set themselves to discuss without passion or prejudice the question dividing us they may solve the difficulties that appear more formidable than they really are. We can do nothing without the unionists and they can do nothing without us Both sections will incur great responsibility if they allow the party to be permanently broken up without making an effort to prevent it

Speedy Settlement Desired.

SOFIA October 22 The regency has received from 500 of the deputies to the great sobranje expressions of a desire to have the election of a prince to succeed Prince Alexander conducted at later than the second sitting of the sobranje All these deputies declare that the country requires the speediest possible settlement of the question The regency have consented to carry out the wishes of the 500 deputies

A Story of the War

[illegible] publishes an interesting column concerning the northwestern conspiracy, an attempt of the confederate government during the war to release southern prisoners in the north, enlist into active service Sons of Liberty and anti Lincolnites, copperheads, etc, throughout Ohio, Indiana and Illinois in a gigantic attempt to create a diversion which would relieve the pressure upon the army at the front. Active operations were in charge of Judge Thos H Hines which John Castleman as chief advisor of this episode In the secret history of the war times has been forced into public notice by current articles from all quarters on war topics and details are mainly taken from papers in the hands of ex Chief Justice Hines of Kentucky The success of the conspiracy was to have been largely dependent upon a very large class in the north who were dissatisfied with the administration The story involves a scheme to capture the only gunboat on the lakes, attack Chicago, release confederate prisoners at Camp Chase, attack St Louis and the general uprising of northwestern copperheads

Mangus and his band, who left Geronimo when he contemplated surrendering to General Crook, have been captured. They were thought to have been killed by Mexicans, and it is well that their existence is revealed under the present circumstances.

Notwithstanding Great Britain's generosity to her steamship lines in the way of subsidies the old Inman line has gone by the board. The war in rates, which has been going on for several months with increasing bitterness, did much to bring about this result.

The Brotherhood of Locomotive engineers now in annual convention at New York city is said to be engaged in the most important business of its existence, which, as a delegate expressed it, will affect every person in the land. It is difficult to guess its purport. The brotherhood is of necessity comparitively small in numerical strength though the model of all labor organizations as regards discipline and management. But how its discussion and action can affect the whole country is a problem.

A majority of the members of the great sobranje have expressed a desire to elect Prince Alexander's successor not later than the second sitting, and the regency will carry out their wishes. This is what Russia does not want. Time would have helped her schemes. Money could have been used in aid of conspiracies, and every day added to the difficulty of the regency. They have no funds for the conduct of the government and for the pay of troops and officials. The news this morning of the action of the powers is very improbable. It does not seem probable that Austria and Germany would violate the treaty of Berlin for the purpose of assisting Russia.

Naval experts abroad have recently been interviewed regarding the new cruisers and those in process of construction. All are agreed that they would be wholly useless in any future war, and that the money spent on them would be thrown away. The great deficiency and a fatal one is in the matter of speed. They could not catch a merchant vessel or get away from a war vessel. Their best speed is thirteen or fourteen knots, while the average speed of the new English cruisers is eighteen knots. Admiral Aube, French minister of marine, is most decided in his opinion, though it is not likely to please the builders of the new navy. He says of the new cruiser Boston: "As a war vessel she is utterly useless. A cruiser is of no use unless she has speed enough to catch the fastest ocean steamer that is to say, unless she has a speed of nineteen knots."

Henry George in his challenge to Abram S. Hewitt to a joint debate which was declined, says that Mr. Hewitt has denounced the workingmen's nomination as a class movement. Mr. George points out that he is a poor man, and the candidate of poor men, without the usual aid of a corruption fund, and that all his constituents seek is to put into actual operation the principle of popular suffrage, which has hitherto been merely a high sounding praise. Mr. George quoted from his platform to refute the idea that he does not recognize property rights. He then denies that the movement which he represents is one of a class against other classes. All classes of men who earn their living are engaged in it, whereas the men who tendered Mr. Hewitt his nomination were, with one exception, professional politicians; many of them disreputable men. Mr. George declares, therefore, that if his is a class movement it is a movement of the "masses against the classes." Mr. George appears to have the best of the argument.

The appointment of Cousin Ben to the Sheffield consulship is not approved by the New York Tribune, which points out the flimsiness of the official explanation and the violation of civil service reform pretensions in the following paragraph: "Private Secretary Lamont's 'official' explanations are getting thinner and thinner. In trying to explain why he came to this city with cabinet officers to fix up a 'deal' between the democratic factions, he made a bad 'mess' of it. He succeeds no better in trying to explain the president's latest violation of his civil service reform pretensions in the appointment of 'Cousin Ben' to the Sheffield Consulate. The 'official explanation' is that young Folsom has been a candidate for the Sheffield consulate for ten years, and that he has been working for the election of a democratic president in order that he might be given this consulate. To say nothing of this 'official' approval of the doctrine that the spoils belong to the victors, the explanation is flatly contradicted by 'Cousin Ben' himself. In an interview in The World he says: 'This consulship of Sheffield I know little about, except that it is considered by the government an important place. I never expressed any preference for this place over others.' All this inexperienced youth knows about the place is that it is considered an important one. And to make room for him valuable consul of twenty years' experience has been removed. Mr. Curtis will now 'line out' the civil service hymn."

PERSONAL.

"Sam O'Bell" will come to this country on a lecturing tour at the beginning of next year.

Degoleff, the eminent nihilist who murdered Colonel Soudelkin three years ago, has escaped from Siberia, and the Czar offers $5,000 for his head.

The Rev. Granville Yager gives up his pastorate at Townshend, Vt., to fill the chair of psychology, ethics and political economy in Middlebury college. He and his family will occupy the "president's house."

Miss Mary Orne Pickering, of Salem, who died recently at the age of eighty-one years, was a granddaughter of Colonel Timothy Pickering, Washington's adjutant general and cabinet minister.

Senator McPherson's Hi-Hi Maud farm comprises 1,200 acres. There are 30 acres of peaches, a carp pond, a rabbit warren, quail, deer, pheasant preserves, an incubator that turns 600 eggs into chickens in a batch, no malaria and no mosquitoes.

Chaplain McCabe has been trying to raise $1,000,00 for the mission fund of the M. E. church during the fiscal year ending with the present month. He is now within $30,000 of it, and hopes yet to make up the entire sum. He has been ill at Clifton Springs, but is now convalescent.

The death is recorded of James Kennedy, once manager of George Stephenson's works at Newcastle-on-Tyne. He planned the first three locomotives on the Stockton and Darlington railroad in 1825, and built the Liverpool, the first locomotive with horizontal cylinders applied directly to the crank shaft or axle.

Prince Paterno and the daughter of Prince Niscem of Palermo are presently to be married. The young lady, it will be remembered, was burned nearly to death at Longchamps, her dress catching fire from a lighted match some smoker had thrown upon the ground. She has fully regained her health, and her face is not scarred.

The French legation at Washington is in a state of mind over the coming visit of Prince Louis Napoleon, son of "Napoleon." The young man will be the guest of his cousin, Colonel Jerome Bonaparte, and doubtless will be much noticed by French society. It will be very awkward for the legation all round if Queen Elmi and yet if it does otherwise there will be a row when the home government hears of it.

The Emperor of Morocco as a Cyclist.

Mr. Howarth, in the Bicycling News, gives a curious account of the achievements of the emperor of Morocco as a cyclist upon a track which he had specially laid down in the gardens of his palace. At first he rode a single tricycle under the tuition of the English officer who holds the chief military command in Morocco. Soon, however, he tired of the task of working the pedals as also, perhaps, of the falls which he encountered in riding too near the edge of the gardens, which are unprotected by any wall or parapet. A brilliant idea then occurred to him. He had a large velocipede constructed which could be driven by slave labor. In the centre is a handsome embossed couch with gold and silver drapery upon which he sits like a good Moor, cross-legged. Overhead is an umbrella or imperial canopy, furnished with side curtains of crimson silk and enriched with fringes of gold. The most characteristic things among the other fittings of this strange machine are a clock and a magnetic compass fitted upon two brackets, the one on the right and the other on the left of the seat. Latterly the tricycle has been worked by the ladies of the palace, although it is pointed out that as Moorish women are prized not so much for their beauty as for their weight, the new condition is not favourable to speed.

Why Better Half?

The Berlin Echo offered a prize a few months ago for the best answer to the question, "Why a man's wife is called his better half?" As the answer was to be in verse, and not to exceed four lines, the replies were fewer than they would have been if a solution in plain prose had been admissible. As it was, however, the committee had to examine many hundreds of answers, none of which seems to have been of a character which would have satisfied the student of folk-lore, to which province the question properly belongs. It has probably been asked and asked in the columns of Notes and Queries. Some of the German replies are serious, and some comical. Frau Henlike, who gained the second prize, ingeniously remarks that the discovery is not made by the husband, but by the children, and there is probably less quarrelling over mother than over father. Frau Schmidt, who gained the third prize, says that the wife reveals herself as the "better half."

Didn't Like the "Donk."

Boston Record.

A wee little lady who lives in a suburb saw and heard a donkey for the first time the other day while out for a walk with her aunt. She talked about it continually after getting home. It was "such a boo fu' donkey," and "such a good donkey," and so on through all her small store of adjectives. When her father came home at night he heard the story over again, with a renewal of the adjectives.

"And so you liked the donkey, darling, did you?" he asked, taking the tiny lass on his knee.

"O, yes, papa, I liked him. That is, I liked him pretty well, but I didn't like to hear him donk."

I had given myself up as lost because of inherited scrofula. Tried everything for purifying the blood without benefit until I used Parker's Tonic, and can truthfully say that it has cured me. I still use for its splendid effect on my general health. H. K. Lynd, Chicago. deutwl-10-1y

CHEAP CLOTHING.

Shrewd buyers always claim, and rightly too that it is economy to buy medium class goods. Goods cheap in price are inferior in quality, style and make, while medium and best grades are the opposite, and will last twice to three times as long. This is especially the case in children's clothing. We do not care to sell men's clothing for 5 cents, boys' for $2.00, hats for 50c and shoes for $1.00, for such garments never give satisfaction, but it injures the trade of the merchant who does it. Following we quote prices on such made goods as will give perfect satisfaction or we will refund the purchase price, when goods are returned unsoiled.

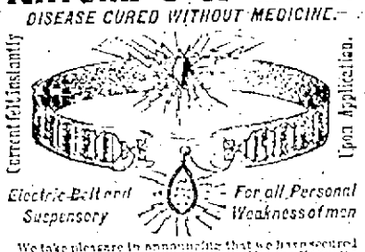
NATURE'S REMEDY.
DISEASE CURED WITHOUT MEDICINE.



We take pleasure in announcing that we have secured the agency of the celebrated Dr. Clark Electro Magnetic Belt, started October 20th 1886, and their inauguration into this interesting triumph in the realm of science, has produced such wonderful and radical improvements over all other belts, that its advantages over them can only be understood by comparing our present patients with the others, first and second. In short, this is THE Electric Belt of the age, and contains as far as today's light does over the one of ten years ago. That these statements are facts is conceded by the U. S. Government by their recent patents to us, and arguments are therefore unnecessary. This belt will infuse the current into the spinal column, which is the grand nerve centre of the body, and also gives direct currents to the Stomach, Liver, Sexual Organs, or any weakened part of the body, thus permeating every part of the body, and will positively cure Nervous Debility, Pains in the Back, Hips or Limbs, Lumbago, Rheumatism, Kidney and Bladder Troubles, Neuralgia, Dyspepsia, Impotency, Lost Sexual Organs, Loss of Memory, &c. &c. Suspensory free with every belt.

We place it for granted that every buyer of an Electric Belt wants the BEST MADE, and it is therefore to the interest of suffers to call and see us before they buy. Our belts are positively the latest improved in the market styles, produces stronger and more lasting currents, and is indestructible. We warrant it to last for years and whole family can wear same belt. Its Lighter and more convenient to wear than any other. TO MEN suffering from nervous weakness we especially recommend it, and will be glad to give the highest private references as to what it has done and is doing. Get our Pamphlet No. 2 illustrated, and containing full information. By mail, prepaid, to any address.

Obituary Part of Case

Mr James F Carr died yesterday at half past four o'clock after several months illness quite ill though as no time during this period was his recovery considered doubtful Although six weeks ago he had recovered sufficiently to sit in the open air and to take brief carriage drives But a sudden change in the weather brought about a relapse in his condition which continued in a direction likely to his bad From after this change in his condition had occurred his recovery was not despaired of, and it was only on Tuesday that those who ministered to his necessities saw that the end was not far off He was conscious to the end and the last words he uttered were those of advice to his counsel and advice to the friends whom he left behind

The deceased was born in Canandaigua New York from thence his parents removed to Minnesota and in 1857 he came to Colorado for the benefit of his health and located in this city where he has since resided At the time of his death he was a member of the firm of Bacon & Carr He was also a member of the Masonic order in which he always took a deep and active interest Perhaps no one will be more generally missed than he His circle of acquaintances was large and embraced fully nine tenths of our citizens His familiar face at the depot will be recollected by many, who on their return from visits of long duration were always sure of a warm and friendly greeting at his hands His friendship was of a lasting character and when once obtained was never lost In disposition he was entirely unselfish, and always willing to oblige Many times did he perform services for his friends at a cost of great personal inconvenience and discomfort but without a murmur of complaint or the slightest indication of unwillingness Always willing to serve others, he was never happy as when he was conscious of contributing to the enjoyment and pleasure of those around him He always took a deep interest in the social gatherings which he attended and many will remember the pleasure which it afforded him to contribute to their success and enjoyment In business he was extremely industrious and persevering He did not have the inclination to assist him which most persons of his age enjoy, and his success in business is the more creditable and commendable Those of our citizens who have resided here for a number of years will recollect how by careful attention to whatever business was intrusted to him no matter whether it was of an important character or not, and by strict probity in all he attained the enviable business position which he enjoyed in this community His business was never neglected, he was always busy, and there were but few idle moments in his business career His occupation was of such a character, as to bring him daily in contact with strangers and the public in general We have yet to learn of a single instance in which he overstepped the bounds of politeness or failed to render the courtesy and attention which are characteristic of the true gentleman and which are seldom found in persons engaged in a similar occupation His will not be missed so much by those who only knew him from his business dealings with them but by those whom he was intimate and true hearted friend To his parents in far off Minnesota we can only extend our deepest condolence and sympathy In his passing away they have lost a noble son and loving son, who notwithstanding the distance which separated him from his home and the confining duties of his business kept a kind word to the aged father and mother who now mourn his loss He occupied a place in the esteem and regard of this community hardly second to none and on all sides is heard expressions of sorrow for his loss, and sympathy for his bereaved relatives and friends

Mr Charles C Carr, his eldest brother, arrived yesterday morning and will take the remains to his home in Minnesota for interment The funeral services will take place to-morrow at the Methodist church at two o'clock

The Missouri Pacific is Coming

Yesterday's Denver Tribune-Republican contained the following which we publish in full

When in Kansas City last Saturday Jay Gould said We are building a road from Ottawa to Council Grove and Salina To-day I have not the contract for the extension of that branch through to the western portion of Kansas

An examination of a map will show that the fact that this contract was let means a great deal for Colorado It has been known for some time that the projectors and owners of the Missouri Pacific, Colorado Midland and the Denver, Texas & Gulf are working in harmony with each other There has been no consolidation of interests but so close in sympathy with each other are the companies that it has been well understood all over the Missouri Pacific system that the Colorado Midland would enter this city and that the Denver, Texas and Gulf as it was formerly called, the Denver and New Orleans Its western outlet would be the Colorado Midland, while it would give the latter road connection with the east. The natural point for the connection between these roads would be reached by the Kansas Junction, where the Colorado Springs branch of the Denver Texas and Gulf leaves the main line.

Construction work on the Midland from Colorado Springs to Leadville will commence at once and it is expected that the road will be completed to Leadville by next July Grading will be pushed as rapidly as possible But if the road is not done now when the Missouri Pacific will do its part of the work and connect with the Midland by the 1st of July the remark which we have noted shows that it is coming

If Stagg Hill River & Ely the western part of Texas nearly half way between Fort Worth and El Paso off the state Jay Gould's Texas and Pacific railway to Sallis and beyond It is apprehended that the extension of the Salina branch the contract for which was let last Saturday will run up the valley of the Big Blue river toward the Colorado line Then following nearly the south line of Elbert county it will strike the Denver Texas & Gulf at Manitou Junction This would make an almost straight line between Manitou Junction and Salina

By the time the Colorado Midland Engelis first train from Glenwood Springs to this side of the mountains the Missouri Pacific will be ready to carry it on to the Missouri river Within a year the Missouri Pacific trains will probably run over a trackage arrangement with the Denver Texas & Gulf by running into the Denver union depot This will make another great eastern connection for this city, and it will open to the trade of our manufacturers a new country in eastern Colorado and western Kansas

Vacation To night

The Pueblo Chieftain of yesterday in speaking of the performance given by the Dalys in that city says 'The Dalys in 'Vacation' held the boards at Dehemas last night. If they are not the most fun provoking company that ever appeared before the footlights, then we give it up The house was a very fair one and from the moment the curtain arose on the first act till the close of the performance side-splitting laughter from the audience was rife The play is made up of many features consisting mainly of antics that a wild frolicsome school boy would perpetrate when his vacation would come The Dalys are perfect athletes and performed many difficult feats in high kicking and jumping while their dancing, singing, etc., like the rest of their company, was artistic and clean It would not be justice to single out one person of this troupe for praise, for they all seem to be stars in their part of the play It would also be useless to say all the ladies are pretty and dashing, for the hundreds of people who gazed there last night know that already The Dalys must be seen to be appreciated for it is impossible to tell in our brief space the amount of fun they make in the short hours'

Polo Yesterday

The cool breeze of yesterday served to put life into the players and their ponies and consequently the games were well contested In the match play which has yet been left on the programme the result Myers Lyle Trent and Glockner played against Messrs Holmes Stevens and Phelps Mr Phelps however played but a part of the first game when he was thrown and his pony ran away towards Englewood and was not recovered until after the games The first game was a tie each side securing one goal The second game yielded four goals for Mr Lyle's team to one goal for Mr Holmes so that the latter was left to two in favor of the first named team On Monday the polo club will be favored to put in teams of four players each They grounds on the Pompeo Grip road are still being used

The Markets

New York October 2—Money on call quiet, ranging from 1@1½ closing offered at 1, prime paper 4 to 5 sterling exchange dull and unsettled, actual business $4 80½ to $4 80¾ for sixty days $4 83½ to $4 84 for demand Government bonds dull and steady to-day The stock market showed more strength in the morning hours, aided especially by buying of Lake Shore, Louisville and Nashville and Reading by houses with London connections Northern Pacific were steadily firm in the face of general weakness upon the announcement of adjustment of differences between the two different companies Prices rose without much interruption until the neighborhood of 1 o'clock when an increase in amount of business down was noticed accompanied by decided weakness in the entire list Prices were carried down below opening figures before 2 o'clock and a fractional rally succeeded bringing final prices small fractions above the lowest of the day, the market closing quiet and steady

Cincinnati Browns

St Louis October 22—The game of baseball between the Chicagos and St Louis Browns was won by the Chicagos by a fair batting exhibition The latter winning easily by a score of 10 to 7 The new umpiring system was received and the few close decisions given satisfied every one. Quest umpired for Chicago, McQuaid for St Louis Kelly of Chicago occupied the pitcher's box and second base as well as acting as referee. Not Worth Living

Rochester N H, October 22—Joseph B Clark one of the most prominent citizens of the city and state committed suicide in his barn this day by hanging He was weighed down with business cares which together with his bitter disappointment at his failure to receive the nomination for congress in the first district undoubtedly led to his taking his life He had been mayor of this city and a member of the legislature He served as captain in the Seventh New Hampshire regiment during the war and was intimately associated with many business enterprises here

The 'Men Minister' Down in Maine

From the Boston Record

At an island on the coast of Maine which is much resorted to there is an esteemed local clergyman who is known to the summer visitors as "the men minister." This is by reason of his habit of telling in season and out of season a certain story which queerly illustrates the perils of faith

"I preached a sermon one Sunday," the good minister will say, "on the doctrine of faith in which I taught my hearers the good Christian doctrine that all things may be brought about by faith instructing them that faith is the evidence of things not seen, the substance of things hoped for I have faith that she's laid an egg and I'm sure it at when I'll go out to it asked I'll find it' So I goes out and looks for it and there wasn't any egg there, and that speckled hen hadn't laid any Now, what's your faith good for, I'd like to know

And then' the minister will say, 'I told her what was the matter with her faith It was meant as a rebuke to you that you didn't find any egg there,' said I 'You'd ought to have trusted in God, and not in the hen"

A Stranger's Innocent Blunder

Albany Journal

Many amusing mistakes are made by strangers who stop at boarding houses in Albany and forge. the number at which they have engaged board "In the vicinity of the medical college," a telegraph operator said to a Journal reporter to-day, are a number of houses built exactly alike A few years ago a young lightning slinger" came here from Canada and secured a night position in the Western Union He wandered up to Eagle street and engaged board by the week After dinner he went to take a survey of the town, returning at 6 o'clock for his supper He had forgotten the number of his house, but, looking down at a basement dining room, he was convinced that he saw the same waiter who served up hash to him at dinner He therefore ascended the steps placed his hat upon the rack in the hall and descended the stairs to the dining room, where he seated himself in a chair at the end of the table.

The lady of the house had not been called to tea and the servant girls stuck their heads out of the kitchen door in a manner that appeared flirty' to the youthful Knuck But thinking, he was a guest of the family, in some state of a hurry, they brought out all the delicacies of the season As the would be boarder was leaving the table the mistress approached him and inquired whether he was a guest of her husband 'No, ma'am' replied the operator, I am boarding here.' She insisted that they took no boarders, and he left, a supper ahead"

Two Good Men

Washington Leader

An amusing incident occurred a few years ago in Dunedin in which a well-known minister of religion figured He had promised a poor woman whose furniture had been seized for debt that he would see that she had a bed for herself and two children to lie on Other pressing matters caused him to forget his promise till late at night, when he was turning into his own comfortable crib from the wintry air Then suddenly it flashed upon him, and he at once arose, hastily dressed, and bundling up his own bed sallied forth with it

A policeman, seeing a tall figure bearing a great bundle pass through the street inquired the cause of its presence Whereupon the minister explained that he was not what it was doing, whereupon the Bobby volunteered to carry the bed for him and both together trudged to the barefurnished abode of the astonished and gratified widow In that way one of the most eccentric acts which are done by stealth and blush to be found, often famous, became known to the community
